On May 21st during the 2nd day of ISPOR 2019 a joint ISPOR Forum was delivered by the ISPOR Ukraine and ISPOR Poland Chapters focused on: “New Value and Coverage Frameworks for Innovative Medicines in Central and Eastern Europe (CEE).”

Currently there is a need to define policy and criteria for making efficient resource allocation for financing of pharmaceuticals in CEE. What best practices should be considered – multi-criteria decision analysis (MCDA) for innovative medicines, value-based pricing and value based procurement, managed entry agreements? Participants of this interactive Forum discussed vision towards new trends and how to optimize access and value of innovative medicines in CEE. In particular presenters shared their experience in conducting multi criteria decision analysis.

Oresta Piniashko, PhD, Director of HTA Department of SEC of MoH of Ukraine, Member of Expert Committee of MoH, was moderator and co-presenter together with Olha Zaliska, PhD, DSci, Professor, Head of Department of Management and Economy of Pharmacy, Medicine Technology and Pharmacoeconomics, Postgraduate Faculty, Danylo Halytsky Lviv National Medical University, Lviv, Ukraine.

Joanna Lis, MSc, MBA, PhD, Professor, Department of Pharmacoeconomics, Medical University of Warsaw, Warsaw, Poland presented the experience in value assessment from Poland perspective.
